

David Marco Included in CDO Magazine Leading Data Consultants List

CDO Magazine has announced its 2022 list of leading data consultants, showcasing those consultants who assist organizations in making better data-driven decisions. EWSolutions is excited to announce that the company's Founder and President, Dr. David P. Marco, is part of this prestigious list.

Nominations for CDO Magazine Leading Data Consultants list were submitted from a variety of sources over the past several months. The CDO Magazine Awards Committee was looking for leaders who have made a significant contribution in one or more aspects of data management and analytics, including data strategy, data governance, and implementation of best-in-class software for managing data.

Best known as the world's foremost authority on data governance and data literacy, David is an internationally recognized expert in the fields of data management, advanced analytics, data warehouse, business intelligence, metadata management and data stewardship. He is the founder and President of EWSolutions, a GSA schedule and Chicago-headquartered strategic partner and full life-cycle systems integrator dedicated to providing companies and large government agencies with best-in-class, award-winning solutions using enterprise information management, big data, data warehousing, data governance and managed metadata environment practices and technologies.
